

What are the aims of the school?

At South Dartmoor Community College and The Atrium Studio School, our aim is to promote an inclusive education that supports the well-being of all students and helps them to make excellent progress.

What are Special Educational Needs and Disabilities (SEND)?

A child has special educational needs if they have a learning difficulty which calls for special educational provision to be made for them, or a disability which stops them from accessing the school facilities that are provided for other young people of their age. You can think of these children as needing something 'additional to or different from' their peer group.

Special Educational Needs are identified within 4 broad categories:

- Cognition and Learning
- Communication and Interaction
- Social and Emotional Mental Health
- Physical and Sensory

How are needs identified?

Additional needs are identified using the Devon Graduated Response Tool. Teachers have been trained in using this tool to assess students for the 4 areas of special educational need. They raise concerns with the SEND Department who can then organise additional provisions and review the impact that is being had.

What are the 3 levels of provision?

At all levels of provision, we want to work with you and your child to identify aspirations, understand needs and plan suitable support. This will enable your child to flourish whilst at the school.

Universal Provision

This provision starts in the classroom with quality first teaching for all. Some simple, reasonable adjustments might be made to meet your child's identified needs. These may include: printing work onto coloured paper; visual time-tables; changes to the seating plan in the room or breaking the lesson down into a three-point plan.

Targeted Provision

This is specific support for your child beyond universal provision. This includes small group and individually targeted interventions. These may comprise: literacy and numeracy interventions; social skills groups; Lego Therapy; emotional scaling and regulation programmes or mentoring from the pastoral team.

Specialist Provision

This is support for your child if they have significant and persistent needs, despite appropriate interventions and targeted support. This is highly personalised for the few children who need it.
