Dear Parent / Carer

Your child has expressed an interest in taking part in a printmaking workshop that we will be running in school on the 23 March.

Thanks to funding we have received from the Helen Foundation, Simon Ripley, a local printmaker, is going to run these activities. Simon introduces work of abstract art and guides students through the complete creative process of developing abstract motifs and creating original prints.

It will be really useful for students to appreciate the high level of artistic enterprise and expression that is happening in the local area. This will be inspirational and motivational for students who are interesting in expressing their creativity within employment after leaving the college. Simon's work can be viewed on Simon Ripley

Students will be off timetable for the day but will follow the usual structure of the school day. Students should wear school uniform as normal. It would be really appreciated if students could bring in an old shirt that will protect their clothes.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me at:

Many thanks for your support
