Dear Parent / Carer

RE: PSYCHOLOGY TEXT BOOKS/RESOURCES

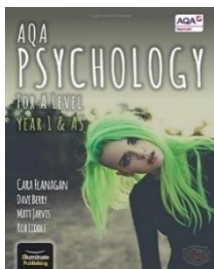

Under normal school circumstances, Sixth Form students who study Psychology have access to a range of textbooks in class and a wider range of textbooks in the Main School Library. Accessing a wider range of textbooks/resources is important as different authors cover content in varying levels of detail and provide variation in how theory, research and research methods are presented.

Unfortunately, we are missing a number of the AS Level/Year 1 textbooks, the A-Level Level/Year 2 textbooks, the AS/Year 1 revision guides and the A-Level/Year 2 revision guides that are for the new 2015 specification and are held in the department for use in the classroom and during private study for both AS and A-Level students.

We are happy to lend students these textbooks to help them prepare for their AS/A Level exams if we have a record of this. However, some have been borrowed without being recorded. In light of this, I am writing to you to request that you discuss the matter with your son or daughter and assist them in returning the textbook/textbooks to main reception for the attention of Danny Murray or Nicola Bush.

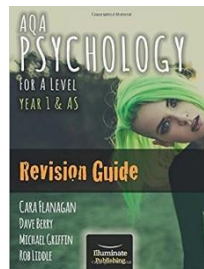

If these books are not returned it could mean there are not enough resources for our next cohort of Y12 and Y13 Psychology students to make use of in independent study time and to have access to more than one AS and A-Level textbook due to replacement costs.

The Psychology texts are:

In previous year, Y13 leavers have also donated their own textbooks if they know they longer need them. We always welcome this for Psychology and Sociology.

We appreciate your support in this matter.

Kind regards

N Bush
